New Construction

Meridian Design Build recently broke ground on a 100,280-square-foot building expansion in Lincolnshire for Kubota Engine America. The U.S. subsidiary of Japan's Kubota Corporation, is a manufacturing leader in the industrial engine market. The design build project consists of 81,880 square feet of plant/warehouse space and 18,400 square feet for future offices. Site improvements are also underway for additional employee parking. Peter Schmidt, senior vice president and Ryan Moore, project engineer, are managing the project for Meridian. Greg Suthers is superintendent. Architectural services are being provided by Timothy Morgan Associates, and civil engineering work is being completed by Manhard Consulting.
